

eviDent Curiouser and Curiouser Dinner

Special thanks to Dr Philip Casan for taking photos.

This year, we asked the question, why is curiosity and eviDent so important? One of the key answers, amongst a few, was that a mind full of curiosity can open up a world of possibilities; and as such, since its conception in 2011, eviDent continues to investigate new and innovative research projects.

This year over 160 people attended our Curiouser & Curiouser fundraising dinner on 17 June, and helped raise over $16,000 – an incredible effort!

The night opened with a solo performance from Rumours Band's lead singer, Debbi, who had everyone on the dance floor for a good part of the night, rocking out to 80s and 90s tracks mixed in with some good time classics!

Garry Pearson kept everyone entertained with his multiple hat and wardrobe changes, accompanied by his entertaining jokes throughout the evening, making once again a fantastic MC.

Guests were mesmerised by FELIX the magician, impressing the audience with a stage act which consisted of almost beheading one of eviDent's Chief Investigators, Prof. Michael McCullough, during his scary/comical guillotine act, followed by more magic throughout the evening.

Dr Peter Waltham, having purchased his raffle ticket just minutes before the raffle closed, was the fortunate winner of a luxury accommodation package for six people in Bali. Talk about luck! Dr Susan Wise was the lucky runner up, receiving a gorgeous hamper that was generously donated by Homing Instincts.

A particular note of appreciation goes out to our supporters - Queen of Diamonds supporter, PSA, and Queen of Hearts supporter, Colgate as well as our Jack of Diamonds supporter, Dentsply Implants.
