The eviDent dental practice based research network seeks to improve the health of the community, and will help to provide answers to the complex and difficult questions that decision makers face when designing policies that affect health and health care.

eviDent believes that the partnership between academic research experts and practitioners provides optimal conditions for clinical research that is recognised as relevant and valuable for practitioners, and to that extent, it is much more likely than laboratory based research to result in early adoption of findings by the profession. The focus on policy issues which have bearing on the community's oral health is expected to lead to more rapid science transfer than is usually experienced via traditional research activities.

By donating to eviDent, you will help fund oral health benefits that will flow from this highly commended venture.
